

Contents

Introduction	5
CHAPTER 1
In the Name of the Czech Nation:
Education and Eugenics in the Late Imperial Period	11
The Crusade for Czech Education: From Asserting the Language to Emancipating the Nation	13
The Naturally Developed Child: The Cornerstone of a New Pedagogical Thinking	14
In Opposition to Family and Society: School as a Marginal Actor of Nation-Building	15
Raising and Educating Girls: At the Cutting Edge of the Struggle for New Generations	19
Theorising Common Sense in Line of Eugenics	22
Conclusions	25
CHAPTER 2
The Segregation of Disabled and Roma Children in the Czech Lands During the Interwar Period.		27
Eugenics: a Measure for Building the Nation	27
Eugenics in Action: Care and Control	32
Assimilate Not Segregate: the Policy Towards the Roma People	36
Conclusions	41
CHAPTER 3
The Education for Disabled Children During the First Decades after the WWII in Czechoslovakia: in the Game of Big-time Politics.		43
Education for All Disabled As a Part of the Resilience of the Nation	44
Egalitarianism against Elitism: Multilevel Education for All?	45
Networking vs. Financial Disaster: the Miracle of Collaborative Tactics	50
Early Socialist Period: Racing for Political Capital	52
The Civic Resistance: the Curse of the Third Republic	55
Official Response to the Crisis of Special Education: Turn to Professionalisation	60
Conclusions	62

CHAPTER 4

Development of a Special Education for Roma Children in Socialist Czechoslovakia: the Pious Desires Towards Total Segregation 65

- The Institutional Development of Special Education for the Roma: Towards the Universalisation of Residential Care 66
 - Education for the Roma Children: Deepening Control under Aliens 66
 - Special Classes: the First Step Away the Mainstream Education 68
 - Special Schools For Roma Children: Integration vs. Segregation in Practice. 70
- Placing the Roma into Schools for the Mentally Retarded Children: Becoming “Special” 72
 - Last Socialist Period: Increasing Arbitrariness in Decision Making 75
- The Ideological Platform of the Education for the Roma Children: Professionalisation in Favour of Segregation 78
 - The Discourses Around the Education for the Roma: Old Wine in New Bottles 78
 - Psychologising the Discourse of the Roma Child: the Consistent Eclecticism of the Arguments 82
 - Medicalising the Roma Children: from Exploring the Environment to Invalidating the Child 84
- Conclusions. 87

CHAPTER 5

Models of Legitimizing Inclusive Education in the Czech Rep.: What Ambitions May Come 89

- Inclusive Education in the Czech Rep.: Mission Impossible? 89
- Legitimacy: Overloading Matrix? 90
- Legitimising Inclusion: the Impact of Professionals 92
- The Models of Legitimizing Inclusive Education: Ostensible Contradictions? 94
 - Inclusion in Action: the Practitioners' Approach 95
 - Inclusion as an Agent of Changes 96
 - Inclusion as a New Ideological Platform 98
- Conclusions 99

Summary 101

Literature 109

- Sources from Archives. 109
- Books and Articles from the Journals of the past 112
- Contemporary Sources 116

Name Index 121

Subject Index 125