

CONTENT

CHAPTER ONE

Introduction to Games of Life	5
Iva Šmídová, Eva Šlesingerová, Lenka Slepčková

CHAPTER TWO

Biopower and Reproductive Biomedicine in the Czech Republic.
A Sociological Perspective	13
Lenka Slepčková, Eva Šlesingerová, Iva Šmídová
Biopower and Biomedicine as a Tool for the Control and Formation of Populations	16
Medicalisation, Governmentality, Authoritative Knowledge	17
The Research of Medicine in Czech Social Science	21
Conceptual Inspiration for the Analysis of Specific Areas of Reproductive Medicine	23
Conclusion: Critical Thoughts on Studying Czech
Reproductive Biomedicine	29

CHAPTER THREE

Biopower, Life Itself and Reproductive Biotechnologies.
The Concept of Life and the Genomization of Society	33
Eva Šlesingerová
Contemporary Biosocieties	39
Biopower/Biopolitics – the “Old” and the “New”. Bíos and Politics	41
Biopower, Governmentality and Enhancement	47

CHAPTER FOUR

Embryo and Stem Cells Manipulation – Czech Context.
Bio-objects and Their Borderlines	51
Eva Šlesingerová
Entering the Research Field	54
The Nature of the Research Field	56
Bio-objects in the Czech Republic. Manipulation, Defining,
Boundary Work	59
Final Remarks	67

CHAPTER FIVE

Medicine as Reproduced Powerlessness: Everyday Life in Czech
Reproductive Medicine from the Physicians' Point of View	71
Iva Šmidová, Lenka Slepčíková
Fieldwork Data	76
The Biggest Problem of Contemporary Medicine as Seen by Doctors	78
Physicians versus Patients	80
Structural Obstacles and Exit as a(n Individual) Solution?	85
Conclusion: Powerless Doctors in the Powerful System of Medicine	89

CHAPTER SIX

Establishing Trust – the Patient's Responsibility. The Role of Trust between the Patients and the Doctors in Assisted Reproduction	93
Lenka Slepčíková
Trust and Late Modern Medicine	95
Trust in Doctors as a Necessary Condition of Treatment and an Instrument to Discipline Patients	97
Conclusion: Trust as the Responsibility of a Female Patient	103

CHAPTER SEVEN

Medical Childbirth Made in the Czech Republic: Required
and Desired Practices	107
Iva Šmidová
The Spectre of Homebirth in the Czech Childbirth Debate and Beyond	109
Doctors as Advocates of the Status Quo?	114
What is Enough for a Change? The Building and the Atmosphere	116
Everyday Hospital Work Requirements in Hospital Practice	119
Legitimisation and Critique of the Status Quo	124
Concluding Remarks on the Structural Context of the Doctors' Standpoints	127

CHAPTER EIGHT

Conclusion: Contemporary Challenges in Czech Reproductive
Biomedicine	133
Eva Šlesingerová, Lenka Slepčíková, Iva Šmidová

REFERENCES	143
SUMMARY	155
SHRNUTÍ	157
NAME INDEX	159
INDEX	163